

Predictive Filtering of Register Cache Entry

Abstract of the Invention

A mechanism, which supports predictive register cache allocation and entry, uses a counter look-up table to determine the potential significances of physical register references.

DC2/#511327